Thank you for hosting The Julia Set at your venue!

What follows are a few things we need that most venues provide anyway, but it's good to get them down in writing. Don't worry, no-one has a pet dog you need to house in their own dressing room, and we have no colour preference when it comes to coated chocolate sweets! We'll eat them all...

- Please take note of our Technical Rider (separate PDF).
- Payment conditions must be agreed by the band, venue and promotor in writing prior to performance.
- If any ticketing rules (minimum tickets sold, allowed number of guests, etc) apply these must be made known to the band prior to confirmation of the gig date.
- The venue should provide clear access for load in/out and information on closest parking and local parking restrictions.
- The venue should make it known if any hospitality (food & drink) is provided for the band. If not, please provide information as to where food and drink can be bought in the local area.
- The venue MUST provide secure storage for band gear and valuables.
- If accommodation is required (and the venue provides it) please provide accommodation for four people which includes parking and a secure storage location for band gear.
- If accommodation is required (and the venue does not provide it) please provide information on nearby hotels. In this case, help with accommodation costs would be agreed beforehand in writing.

That's about it. Obviously, if there is anything you as a venue need to discuss with us, please don't hesitate to contact us to chat about it.
